About Phondaghat Education Society, Phondaghat

The vision of PES is to provide the quality education to all, especially to the students from rural, hilly region and socio-economically deprived ones to make them self-confident, employable & self-reliant in the context of global competition. For this purpose, Phondaghat Education Society, which is founded on 28th April 1952 with the aim to promote education to the students of rural and hilly region. The PES has contributed its best towards improving the teaching learning process, enhancing student support services and infrastructural development. It aims at enlightening and empowering the youth, particularly women, to become socially responsible citizen and equip them to compete in a multi-cultural environment. PES has started Arts and Commerce College, is established in 1995, having Commerce as unaided wing since 2013, which is affiliated to the University of Mumbai and accredited by NAAC with 'B' grade in 2016. The update knowledge from primary to higher education is imparted through all these wings to the students arriving from nearly 10 nearby villages. Today, 1704 students are studying in primary to higher education level classes.

About College and Location

Having the motto "Let's all Enlightened and Mentorous, Nobody be Ignorant and Weak" the PES has started Arts and Commerce College in 1995, with the vision of providing quality higher education to the students from diverse backgrounds, irrespective of region, religion, caste, economic strata and academic performance. At present the College offers B. A. and B. Com. under-graduate degree courses of three years duration each, affiliated to the University of Mumbai. The college is accredited with B grade from NAAC and is recognized by UGC under 2f and 12b. The Commerce wing is under non-grant basis since 2012. The College sensitizes its students on gender and environmental issues through celebrating national / international days, organizing awareness / sensitizing lectures, street plays, quiz competitions etc. Phondaghat, as its name suggests, is situated in the hilly and remote area at the bottom of Mountain Ranges of the Sahyadry. It is so famous for honey, that even honey is branded as 'Phondaghat Honey'. It was a mini marketplace for exchange of domestic commodities for the south Konkan in the past. But there were no facilities of education, health and transportation in the region, because of the geographical restraints. The students had the only option either to go to Mumbai for further education or to stop education after completion of primary education and work in their own small farms.

Arts and Commerce run by Phondaghat Education Society Phondaghat Dist, Sindhudurg. Online One-Day International Conference jointly organized by the Department of Economics, Department of Geography and Internal Evaluation Determination Cell at Sindhudurg. Prof. Dr. Rajaram Patil briefly introduced all the guests and given today's situation of the world, significances of the conferences and welcomed them. LC Principal Dr. Satish Kamat reviewed the progress of the college. Shri. Shrikant Apte, Chairman, Phondaghat Education Society, Dr. Ravindra Kulkarni, PVC University of Mumbai wished him well.

"To Get Jobs in the Hands of the People, More and More Investment Should be made in the Agricultural Business" said Dr. Praveen Saptarshi from Salisbury University, USA

Online International Conference of Phondaghat College Concluded. Prof. Dr. Praveen Saptarshi from Salisbury University, USA said that in order to get jobs in the hands of the people, more and more investment should be made in the agricultural business. The employment of many people in agriculture will increase the production of agricultural crops. If local development is to take place, everyone should get employment, for that, everyone needs to use locally produced goods. For this, every person should take initiative and give priority to agriculture, only then it will contribute to sustainable development.

"Achieving inclusive economic growth by meeting the basic needs of the poor, rather than feeding the handful of the rich, is an effective way to achieve sustainable development, said a senior economist, former vice-chancellor of the University of Mumbai and the Planning Commission. Former Rajya Sabha member Dr. Bhalchandra Mungekar did it today. In India today, one per cent of the population has 54 per cent income and 70 per cent wealth. In such a scenario, sustainable development is impossible, he said. College of Arts and Commerce run by Phondaghat Education Society Phondaghat Dist, Sindhadurg. He was speaking at the inaugural function of an online One-Day International Conference jointly organized by the Department of Economics, Department of Geography and Internal Evaluation Determination Cell at Sindhadurg. If sustainable development is not achieved, the very existence of not only human beings but also the earth will be threatened, warns Dr. Given by Mungekar.

Scott Kaffora, a well-known American social worker and engineer, said that the enjoyment of an environmentally friendly life is the foundation of sustainable development. Nature is your friend. Resources need to be used as needed. Reduce the use of migratory and economically expensive items. Meet your own needs at the lowest possible cost. Everyone should try to contribute to sustainable development using locally available resources. For this, new projects should be planned and their importance should be explained to the society from a scientific point of view. Maintaining an environmentally friendly relationship will contribute to sustainable development in many areas.

Prof. Dr. Shishank, Director, University of Birmingham, London, said that farmers should be encouraged for the development of agriculture. Farmers are an important factor in the development of the country. If agriculture is to survive, the economic side of farmers must be strengthened. Only if the farmer benefits from the production of agricultural products can the farmer live a happy life. Farmers face many hurdles in selling their produce and consumers have to pay more for their produce. The farmer works hard and produces agricultural produce all year round, so he should benefit from it.

Prof. Dr. Inebeli Ukpong, Agronomist from Nigeria. "The world today is facing a number of challenges," he said. Nature is being exploited to dominate this element of industrialization, urbanization. Climate change, global warming, food security and environmental pollution seem to be hindering the achievement of sustainable development. Farmers in developing countries should make efforts to expand their agribusiness by increasing research and investment in agriculture.

Former Senator of Mumbai University Dr. Hemant Pednekar said that the anatomy and characteristics of a person in any country are different. We must change ourselves as times change. There should be a balance in the population. Nowadays, the flow from rural to urban areas seems to be increasing. Population migration from urban to rural areas is essential for maintaining ecological balance. People in the community should take advantage of various government schemes.

Prashant, a professor at the Bahrain Institute, said that if the resources available today are depleted in a few years, the government should take concrete steps to create alternative resources. Apart from the Carbon Tax Regulation Act in India, there are members of the Human Development Index. India has approved a budget of Rs 6,000 crore.

The online international conference was attended by more than a hundred researchers and professors from various states of India as well as the United States, London, Great Britain, Bahrain, Poland, Nigeria, etc. The participating researchers read their research paper through video clips. This time the doubts were resolved by experts. Prof. Dr. Rajaram Patil Head Department of Geography and IQAC Coordinator conducted the program while Prof. Dr. Balaji Survase Head Department of Economics and Convener thanked.
